Jonathan & Kristy Carter #11371

As a student at Clemson University and a young believer, Jonathan grew in his relationship with Jesus Christ through the ministry of Reformed University Fellowship (RUF). He left a career in marketing to pursue God's call to ministry, and received his master of divinity from Erskine Theological Seminary.

Kristy first worked with Mission to the World (MTW) as a student at the Medical College of Georgia, exploring her own call to missions on a medical team in Bangladesh. She and Jonathan met and married during her residency, and Kristy went on to serve as a pediatrician while joyfully raising their first son.

Called to both cross-cultural and university ministry, Jonathan and Kristy have found a perfect fit in an MTW/RUF partnership to reach students for Christ on campuses around the world. They join the MTW team in Romania, which equips national pastors toward establishing a Reformed and covenantal church-planting movement. This movement, by God's grace, will bring personal, cultural, and institutional reformation to Romania. In a country where the repercussions of Communism still darken much of life, Jonathan and Kristy are investing in university students to bring the light of the gospel to these future leaders of Romania.
