RODNEY AND JANA DAVILA #11704

Rodney and Jana met in Costa Rica while Jana was learning Spanish with Rodney as her teacher. After their marriage, their call to missions was confirmed through involvement with short-term missions.

Since the Davila's first assignment in Bogota, Colombia, Rodney has been involved in training men to be leaders. Although security concerns did not allow them to return to Bogota, the work continues in the national church to this day!

In Santiago, Chile, Rodney has helped to both develop and direct CEPA, a center for pastoral training. CEPA strived to provide national pastors and church planters with theological education, accountability in the form of personal discipleship, and practical ministry experience. Several CEPA graduates are now ordained pastors.

Due to the growing interest throughout Latin America for effective leadership training, the Davilas are now part of the Missional Learning and Development Team. Rodney consults with other teams that want to start training programs and will help them to contextualize their ministries in accordance with their particular situations.

The Davilas plan to continue living in Santiago, Chile, while partnering with other church planters and future leaders of the church both in Chile and throughout Latin America. You can reach the Davilas at rdavila@mtwsa.org.
