JOHN AND CLAUDIA ROLLO

INTERNATIONAL DIRECTOR FOR SUB SAHARA AFRICA

John is from Jackson, Mississippi, where he received his B.S. from Belhaven College and his M.Ed. from Mississippi College. After John taught in the public schools for five years in Jackson, the Rollos were called as support workers with Wycliffe Bible Translators in 1973. Two years later, they joined MTW under a cooperative agreement in the Philippines.

John has provided leadership for a number of MTW departments and has served as director for both the Asia and Europe areas. He is currently the international director for Sub Sahara Africa. John also is the director of the policy council, whose goal is to take much of the load of decisions off the other international directors.

Claudia is from Shreveport, Louisiana. She received a music degree from Belhaven College and taught piano privately. She served the Lord with John in the Philippines in such roles as a children's home mom, finance office operator, nursery/pre-school teacher, technical studies bookkeeper, and piano teacher. All of this was in addition to raising three children: Tracy, Jessica, and Taylor. Since being assigned to the US, she has served as church secretary, worship planner, pianist, and choir director for their home church.
