LARISSA SWANSON #17091 CHURCH PLANTING

Larissa grew up in a Christian home in New Jersey, blessed to barely remember a day in which she did not know Christ as savior. Traveling and a move to Georgia helped her grow out of childhood shyness into an eager interaction with the world around her, especially the people in it.

As a student at Covenant College, Larissa studied Music, History, and German. During college, her conviction to show God's love and live out his grace, not hoarding the good news, increased. A semester in Germany and a few visits to Berlin sparked an interest that wouldn't fade — beyond being fascinated by the culture and history, she sensed the peoples' longing for the hope that is found only in Jesus.

Since graduating in 2006, Larissa has been working at Cono, a Christian boarding school in Iowa. Living and teaching among a diverse crowd of students and staff has given her many opportunities for further sanctification and practical experience. Both will be indispensable as she joins the church planting team in southeast Berlin, teaching English to open communication and build relationships while letting Christ shine in her daily life.

Many thanks for your prayers that enable and uphold her ministry!
